SENATORS HEAR PICKENS OUTLINE PENSION 'PURGE'

Former Clerk Testifies That Move Is On To Remove All Old Age 'Chiselers'

SALARY INCREASES ASKED

Sub-Committee To Summon Henry J. Berroddin

Ferd M. Pickens, former Pickaway county clerk of courts, appeared before the sub-committee of the state senate Monday afternoon to discuss some of the workings of the Old Age pension division of which he is business administrator. Pickens, who was sought last Saturday, by subpoenaed deputies, appeared voluntarily before the committee. He informed the committee that the division contemplated an increase in personnel and salaries. He declared the increase was sought to expedite the purge of chiselers from the rolls. Even with the increases, he said, the work would take nearly a year. "I am satisfied," Pickens said, "that there are recipients who do not belong on the lists, but we're weeding them out."

He testified that the parents of a member of the senate were pension recipients, but he refused to disclose their identity.

To Call Berroddin
The senate committee investigating the division recommended a 10-member recommitment committee, from which the sub-committee was appointed, take over the investigation to hear testimony of Henry J. Berroddin, chief of the aid for the age administration.

FITZPATRICK TO FURNISH BALLOTS FOR AUGUST VOTE

Fitzpatrick's Printery, E. Main street, was successful bidder Monday for printing ballots for the August primaries. The firm's bid, the only one submitted to the board of elections, was $49.65 for 4,500 city ballots. James M. Tootle, Monroe township, recently endorsed for a board position to succeed J. R. Hott, deceased, attended the meeting. His appointment has been recommended to the secretary of state. Frank A. Marion and Elmer Merriman, both Democrats, have filed their petitions with the board of elections as candidates for justice of peace in Circleville township.

Norris TVA Plan Precipitates Senate Wrangle

Map of seven districts in Norris plan; Senators Clark, inset top, and Norris, below.

PLAN of Senator George Norris of Nebraska to create seven regional TVA districts precipitates a hot fight in the senate with the squabble revolving around which committee shall handle it. Utilities want it kept out of the hands of Senator Norris and his committee. When the measure was introduced, it was referred to the senate agriculture committee, of which Senator Norris is a member and which passed on his original TVA act. No sooner was this done than Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri, suggested that the legislation be turned over to the commerce committee of which he is a member. Clark argues that the bill contains flood control legislation, a commerce committee province. Norris' measure does deal with flood control, but it also covers reforestation, soil erosion and above all, water power—all agriculture committee spheres.

ILLNESS OF NINE JURORS DELAYS TRIALS OF FOUR

IRONTON, June 29—(UP)—The trial of four Lawrence county persons on election fraud charges was delayed today because of sudden illness of nine of the 12 jurors. The jury informed Judge Phil H. Wieland that most of them had been unable to sleep last night because of digestive ailment. Judge Wieland summoned a physician. When the trial is resumed, Auditor Pearl Pratt is to attempt to establish that he was not in the courthouse last Nov. 8, when the state charged that ballots were altered.

Co-defendants with Pratt are William Dickens, lumber man and Republican candidate for county commissioner last year; Miss Elizabeth Griffith, former county relief director, and Wade Webb, court bailiff. The defense sought to prove that Pratt was at his home here at his father's farm, at Chesapeake, and at a Huntingdon, W. Va., hospital last Nov. 8.

IRWIN IS NAMED KILLER OF THREE IN INDICTMENTS

NEW YORK, June 29—(UP)—Robert Irwin was indicted for murder three times by the county grand jury today—once for each of the three persons he strangled and stabbed on Beekman Hill last Easter Sunday. Less than 40 minutes after it began hearing the case the jury presented the indictments to Judge William Allen in general sessions court. Prosecuting officials sought to obtain the content of Irwin's attorney to an immediate arraignment. The indictments charged the former insane asylum inmate with strangling artist's model Veronica Gedeon, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, and stabbing with an ice-pick Frank Byrnes, who boarded with them.

RELIEF OFFICE TO RECEIVE 36 BARRELS OF POTATOES

Spuds—36 barrels of them—were to be received at Circleville relief headquarters Tuesday. They were to be trucked to Circleville from Chillicothe. Wade Canter, commodity distributor, said the potatoes would probably be handed out Friday.

SENATE TO LET BLIND TAKE DOGS ON TRAINS

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(UP)—The senate passed and sent to the White House a bill to permit blind persons to take guide dogs with them on railroad trains. The measure, already approved by the house, was recommended by the Interstate Commerce commission which said that under existing law blind persons in many instances were forced to transport their trained dogs in baggage cars.

W. P. A. DECLINES FUNDS FOR NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

The Deercreek township board of education met Monday night, employed one teacher to complete the school staff, and delayed action on the proposed construction of an addition to the school until a later date. Miss Frances Malone, Jackson township, was hired as sixth grade teacher to succeed Florence Dissley. Hoes of building an addition to the Williamsport school under W. P. A. were dashed when the board was informed the project had been refused. The reason of the refusal was that W. P. A. work is to be stopped in counties having more than 300 clients employed. Pickaway county is one of the counties in which the federal program will be "tapered off."

Bond Issue Suggested
George McDowell, superintendent of county schools, said the district could place a bond issue before voters at a special election or at the general election in November. Whether this will be done has not been definitely determined. The next regular meeting of the board will be held the last Monday in July. A special meeting may be called, members said. The addition to the school was to include a gymnasium, locker (Continued on Page Ten)

PAINTER ENTERS PRISON

COLUMBUS, June 29—(UP)—Kenyon V. Painter, 70, big game hunter and former director of the Union Trust Co., Cleveland, today began a one to 30 year term in Ohio penitentiary on charges of misapplication of $2,000,000 in bank funds.

GRIFFEY WINS PAROLE

Robert Griffey sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for cutting with intent to wound, will be paroled Aug. 10.

STRIKER KILLED; DEPUTY SHERIFF LODGED IN JAIL

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., June 29—(UP)—The seven-states steel strike claimed its 13th life with the death here today of George Milke, fatally injured late yesterday in a disturbance at the struck Moltrop Steel Products Co. Mike, hit by a projectile from a tear gas gun in the hands of a deputy sheriff, was the first fatality of the steel strike in Pennsylvania. Ten have died in rioting near Chicago, and two in Youngstown, Ohio, as the Committee for Industrial Organization called strikers in an effort to gain union contracts. Deputy Sheriff Jay Jackson, who handled the tear gas gun, was held in the Beaver county jail as Dist. Atty. Robert E. McCreery promised an immediate investigation of the entire affair.

YOUNG REFUGEES FROM SPAIN HIT NUNS, TEACHERS

BORDEAUX, France, June 29—(UP)—Revolt broke out today in two refugee camps for children evacuated from the Basque country. Youths of 10 to 12 years of age attacked or threatened the nuns and teachers in charge of them with knives and revolvers. Sixty refugees at Auxerre revolted when a child was slapped for misbehavior. They drew knives and glasses and demanded their return to Spain. Four escaped. Police sent 15 others to a disciplinary camp. Sixteen boys revolted at the St. Louis hospital at La Rochelle. They insulted the nuns and kept the patients awake by singing the "Internationale" all during the night. The nuns threatened to call police and the boys then removed their shoes and beat the nuns. Police, responding to a riot call, clashed with the youngsters and one policeman was injured before the refugees were subdued.

CRIPPLED WING FORCES BELLED BUZZARD TO LAND

LANCASTER, June 29—The famous belled buzzard, or at least one of them, was found by Lester Starnes, of near Revenge, in his barnyard. A bell attached to one of the bird's wings carried the inscription, "Report to the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C." The bird was forced down by a crippled wing.

BODIES OF GIRLS FOUND BY FOUR BOYS IN RAVINE

"Handsome Young Man" With Moustache Sought After Mutilation Crime

CALIFORNIANS ANGERED

Fingerprints Of All Checked With Other Marks

INGLEWOOD, Cal., June 29.—(UP)—Twelve men, with asserted records as degenerates, were questioned by police today in the kidnap-slitting of three little girls, lured from play Saturday on the promise they would be taken on a "live rabbit hunt." Police sought a "handsome young man with a black moustache." Fingerprints of the 12 men arrested were checked with those found on the mutilated bodies of the children.

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 29.—(UP)—Mob fury spread through this suburban Los Angeles community today while police hunted the killer of three little girls, who were lured from a playground into the Baldwin hills, ravished and strangled.

Arrest of three suspects last night, all of whom were soon exonerated, was sufficient to draw a howling crowd of 1,500 persons to jail, prepared for a lynching. "This jail won't be strong enough to hold him if the officers get him," they yelled. Eugene Williams, deputy Los Angeles district attorney, went outside to face them. "Now it won't do any good for you people to gather here," he shouted. "We'll take care of the killer when we catch him. You can back us up when he comes to trial. Please go home."

Crowd Mills Through Night
About half the crowd disbanded and the rest milled all night about the jail, in an angry, muttering mood, with no prisoner on whom to wreak their vengeance. Williams ordered that any further persons held for questioning in the case be rushed immediately to the county jail in Los Angeles.

Possible new clues were a torn and blood-stained towel, several pages from a sex magazine and a number of California and Arizona license plates which were found in a pile under a bridge in the Baldwin hills. Walter Burdette, the aviator who first discovered the girls' bodies, brought in the possible new evidence to police headquarters. He said the bridge where he found the articles was several miles from the ravine where the girls were murdered. An early police bulletin had (Continued on Page Ten)

BRITISH, FRENCH FACE OPPOSITION IN INTERVENTION

LONDON, June 29—(UP)—Germany and Italy defied Britain and France today by clearly revealing their determination to block the British-French plan to take over dual non-intervention control of the Spanish coast.

The development occurred at a meeting of the foreign committee of the full non-intervention committee of 27 nations. Those represented at the meeting were Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Portugal.

Only Portugal indicated sympathy with Germany and Italy. The attitude of the two Fascist states on a question which many believed might prove to be a cause for war caused the powers to play for time.

Thieves Use Fan To Drive Tear Gas Fumes from Room

SALT LAKE CITY, June 29.—(UP)—Tear gas was no problem to thieves who took $500 from the safe of the Freed Motor Company here. Claude Freed, fearing robbery had installed a safe with a tear gas attachment. The thieves turned the office electric fan on the gas jet, blowing the clouds of fumes out the window while they worked.

AUTOIST FACES CHARGES AFTER DEATH OF GIRL

Deputy Files Manslaughter Against Robert Frye of Mansfield

Robert Frye, 28, of 380 W. Fourth street, Mansfield, was bound to the grand jury under $1,000 bond Monday afternoon by H. O. Eveland, justice of peace, on a manslaughter charge. Frye denied the charge.

The charge, filed by Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell, followed the death of Miss Elsie Harvey, 18, of Wharton, W. Va. Miss Harvey died in Berger hospital Monday of injuries that she received early Sunday when she was struck by Frye's auto on Route 23, just south of Circleville. She was believed hitch-hiking to her home when the fatality occurred.

The girl was walking on the west side of the highway, officers were told. Frye was driving north and is alleged to have struck the girl when he made a wide swing on a curve. Miss Harvey's body was removed from the Albaugh Co. chapel, Tuesday, to Boone, W. Va., where the funeral will be Wednesday morning. Her brother, Ray, of Wharton, W. Va., accompanied the body South.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff was informed Miss Harvey had left her home about three weeks ago. Relatives did not know where she had gone. She is survived by five brothers and two sisters.

AMELIA, REACHES LAE, THEN RESTS FOR LONG JUMP

LAE, New Guinea, June 29.—(UP)—Amelia Earhart, American woman flying round the world with Fred Noonan as navigator, landed today and prepared to take off tomorrow for a 2,550-mile flight to Howland island in mid-Pacific. Miss Earhart landed her "flying laboratory" airplane after a 1,200-mile flight from Darwin, Australia. Miss Earhart was tired but enthusiastic over her flight. She said she wanted a good rest before she and Noonan took off for the 18-hour flight to Howland island, the tiny American possession where WPA workers have laid out the only airport within 1,000 miles. No plane has landed on the island.

PARTITION SUIT NAMES MONROE TOWNSHIP LAND

Suit for partition was filed in common pleas court Tuesday by Nina E. Wilkey, Washington C. H., against John F. Wilkey, Monroe township, and the Prudential Insurance Co. of America. Mrs. Wilkey says she has a legal right to an undivided one-half interest in 102.5 acres of land in Monroe township. The petition says Mr. Wilkey owns the other undivided one-half and the insurance company has an interest in the property.

The Wilkeys have a divorce action pending in common pleas court at the present time.

IN BOMBING PLOT

Warren Chief Signs Warrant Naming Hall Responsible for Three Explosions Last Week Near Big Corporation Plants

THREE JAILED AFTER CONFESSING

Industrial Walkout in Protest Against Use of National Guard Blamed on C.I.O. Man

YOUNGSTOWN, June 29—(UP)—Police sought today the C. I. O. chieftain who called a general industrial strike at nearby Warren, O., last week on charges that he was the "brains" of a "terrorist" plot to blow up property at or near strike-bound steel mills.

Police Chief B. J. Gillen, of Warren, swore out a warrant for arrest of Gus Hall, local strike organizer, and two other men after arrest of three alleged bombers who were said to have confessed preparing for a series of nitro-glycerin explosions around picketed and militia-guarded steel plants.

The three men arrested were named by police as George Bundas, John Borawicz and Arthur Scott, all described as strikers against the Republic Steel Corporation plant at Warren. They were charged with possessing explosives and held under $25,000 bail. Police said Hall had not been seen for 24 hours.

Three Bombs Fired

Three explosions in the Warren area have punctuated the 33-day old strike which kept 80,000 men idle in seven states until mills began reopening within the last few days with militia and police protecting returning non-strikers. Republic, which this week undertook a comprehensive plan for resuming production at various Ohio plants, had kept the Warren and Niles mills going throughout the strike despite the fact that pickets curtailed production and kept workers inside the plants. In the last few days, however, production had been stepped up at the Warren plant with militia men maintaining order on the picket lines.

The explosion occurred on a bridge near the center of town, on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and at a power line pole near the Republic plant at Niles. The power line explosion was the latest of the three bombings in the alleged campaign of terror and led to the arrest of the three men now in jail.

According to police, the three confessed that: Hall provided them with funds and sent them to Oil City, Pa., to buy nitro glycerin. Arriving there, however, they found the explosives had already been paid for and had been packed in eight ounce bottles. They returned to Warren with two (Continued on Page Ten)

WATER SUPPLIES INTO BETHLEHEM PLANT DISRUPTED

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 29.—(UP)—Two mysterious explosions in the mountains which rim strike-torn Johnstown cut off the major water supply of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation today and forced the company to suspend operations at its big Cambria plant, scene of a strike called by the Committee for Industrial Organization. The blasts, heard in a radius of ten miles, occurred in the midst of a "back to work" movement, which according to the company had pushed operation to a normal basis despite the strike. The first explosion, which occurred shortly before midnight, cut a 36-inch line from the border dam. The second blasted the 56-inch Quemahoning line which carries water into the Franklin mill, one of the largest divisions of the Cambria works, where 15,000 steel-workers are employed. While two smaller lines to the plant remained open, the blasting of the two major lines caused such a severe shortage that operations were disrupted.

ONE BLACK MARK MAY DELAY AL'S PRISON RELEASE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—(UP)—One black mark against the prison record of Alphonse (Scarface Al) Capone may delay his release from the federal prison on Alcatraz island in San Francisco bay, the San Francisco Chronicle said today. Capone, serving an 11-year sentence for evasion of income taxes while he was the asserted gangster chief of Chicago, was said to have been eligible for release from the prison within a year if his record was unmarred.

Many Notes of News
Mrs. Blanche Baker has returned home from a ten day visit with her sister near Springfield. Wendel Canter and family now occupy the Fraunfelder dwelling on Powell street. Mrs. Ruth Canter gave a surprise birthday party for her daughter, little Miss Norma Jean last Friday afternoon. The little people guest list was composed of Caroline and Mary Fudge, Bryan Grant, Dorn Topolosky, Marvin Monroe, Barbara Campbell, Sherry Lee Valentine, Junior Malone, Charles Messick, Myrna Jean Wardell, Yolanda and Raquel Chamberlain. Mr. and Mrs. Poling and daughters Edna and Betty are here from the South and are temporarily making their home with Mrs. Poling's parents, Ed and Mrs. Ett. John Griffith, sign writer, of Circleville, was here Monday and took orders for signs from all the doctors but one, and he was out of town. The Peters family here from Louisiana attending the funeral of Homer Fridley, Mrs. Peters' brother, will start for home Thursday, going by way of Grayville, Tenn., to visit Mrs. Peters' sister, Mrs. Mary Beaver. A birthday surprise party was given for Miss Sally Shannon at the Shannon home last Thursday evening. The guests were Lou Vause and daughter Gladys, George Gatten and family and Mrs. Ida Bowman. Having one or two teeth extracted is not so very much fun but nineteen at one sitting is a lot, if you like it. Tom says that Mrs. Acord is doing fine now after such operation. Doctor Rokey says the new ones will come out easier. The farmers in Ashville community are very busy at wheat harvesting now and if the weather continues fair by the close of the week the 1937 crop will be in shock. Hundreds of acres will be marketed through the combine way of harvesting. Bill Curry told us yesterday evening that he and his son George had sold a fat sow, weight 470, for $44.60. He says hogs are now selling for $12 the cwt., in the feed lot.

CRACKER CAUSES BIG EXCITEMENT FOR LANCASTER

LANCASTER, June 29 — One premature celebrator of the Fourth of July caused considerable excitement here with a firecracker. He tossed it into a sewer and several manholes covers sailed into the air. Officers believed sewer gas or gasoline seepage from a filling station were ignited by the firecracker.

COLVILLE'S BOND FIXED AT $50,000 FOR NEXT TERM

County commissioners, Monday, fixed the bond of Robert G. Colville, county treasurer, at $50,000 for his new term of office beginning the first Monday in September. The bond is the same as that of his present term.

ANOTHER COUPLE SEEKS DAMAGES FROM COLUMBUS

Rose M. and David Gochenouer, Jackson township, filed suit against the city of Columbus, Monday, for $7,000.

They charge sewage pollution of the Scioto river by the city has damaged their farm along the Jackson pike. The suit was filed in Franklin county common pleas court.

Cows Show Poor Taste

HEALDSBURG, Cal. (UP) — Oleanders may be highly desirable for home decoration but they are hard on cows. For several years past, the State Hospital has had an epidemic each June of deaths among its prize herd of Holsteins, one of the most valuable in the state. G-men-like investigations this year revealed the fact that the cows ate the clippings of oleander shrubs and the clippings did the rest.

en couldn't be served until it was done, so Ira just had to give his hunger a wait until that chicken was "donner". But the "done chicken" which refused to get that way, all dawned on Ira when that good choir of his pounced in on him to help eat some of that chicken he had been patiently waiting for. It was a real surprise but Ira will be forever suspicious when the chicken "won't get done."

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA
They've talked about the weather and they've sung about the weather, but for the first time they've made a movie about the weather. It's called "Let's Get Married," and will be showing Wednesday at the Cliftona Theatre.

More precisely, it's a story about the weather-man, an official government weather forecaster played by Ralph Bellamy. Like a Penny from Heaven, his new invention, a balloon type "meteorograph," falls on the pretty red head of Ida Lupino while she's attending a garden party in honor of her impending engagement to Congressman candidate Reginald Denny. Slightly irritated at thus being publicly assaulted, Miss Lupino is not quite cordial when Bellamy calls for his invention. Love, however, has a way of overcoming such petty obstacles, and romance runs riot—and riotously, too.

Bill Robinson, Claude Rains, Mitzi Green and Jo Laurie, Jr., are the guest stars in Rudy Vallee's Variety Hour next Thursday. All three are old favorites with listeners to the broadcasts over the NBC red network at 7 p. m. (EST).

Bill Robinson will do a new song with the familiar obligato of tap-dancing feet that have carried him from Harlem to stardom on the stage and screen.

Claude Rains, the "actor's actor," will be featured in an original play specially written for the program. With this broadcast, Mitzi Green finally makes her twice-postponed appearance. She sings "I Want to Act" and "That's Why the Lady Is a Tramp," two tunes from "Babes in Arms" the revue in which Mitzi is starring on Broadway.

CROSBY OFFERS HITS

Bing Crosby will introduce four tunes from his new movie, "Double or Nothing," on his final broadcast of the season in the Music Hall next Thursday night. The film, recently completed, will be released throughout the United States on August 26. On his last broadcast before going on a Summer vacation, Bing continues his custom of being first to introduce his film songs on the air.

The tunes are, "Smarty," by Ralph Reed and Burton Lane, and "All You Ought to Do Is Dance," "The Natural Thing To Do," and "The Moon Got In My Eyes," by Johnny Burke and Arthur Johnson.

Real estate and factory buildings will be sold at 2 p. m. at the courthouse by the sheriff. A public auction of the machinery and equipment, finished and unfinished materials, accounts receivable and patent rights relating to the manufacturing of corn cob products, will be held at 3 p. m. at the mill.

The real estate and factory buildings will be sold in foreclosure proceedings in common pleas court, while the equipment and other materials will be sold in bankruptcy proceedings in the U. S. District court. The premises have been appraised at $12,000.

The sale in bankruptcy will include electric motors, 75 to 100 horsepower, grinders, crushers, hammer mills, blowers, belting, pulleys, various small tools of all descriptions, finished and unfinished materials, supplies on hand, office fixtures and miscellaneous personal property.

George Florence, Columbus, is trustee in bankruptcy for C. C. Truax, and R. Earl Swepston, Columbus, is official U. S. auctioneer.

Legion to Ring Liberty Bell in July 4 Program

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 29.—The entire nation will hear the Liberty Bell, which proclaimed American independence on July 4, 1776, ring again on the Fourth of July in a program of The American Legion which will be carried over the coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting system. It will be the first time in history that the nation has heard the historic bell on the anniversary of the day it tolled the birth of the country.

The program will be broadcast from Independence Hall, originating in the same room in which the Declaration of Independence was signed and the Constitution of the United States was adopted. Much of the furnishings which occupied the room on both of those historic occasions are still there and will be used in a dramatization in connection with the broadcast.

Scheduled at 1 P. M.
The broadcast will be for 30 minutes, beginning promptly at 1 o'clock Eastern Standard Time. The program will open with a band selection, followed by a description of the scene by one of the Columbia Broadcasting System's ace commentators. Professional actors, all costumed in the clothes of the famous characters they will represent, will then put in a dramatization of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. As the climax to this stirring scene, Mayor S. Davis Wilson, of Philadelphia, will personally ring the Liberty Bell, specially arranged microphones carrying each resonant peal to every corner of the country. The mayor will then introduce Harry W. Colmery, national commander of The American Legion, who will deliver a brief address of national importance. The program will close with the National Anthem, played by the band.

RIVER CONTINUES TO FALL; SMITH TO CHECK CROP

The Scioto river dropped approximately four and a half feet in the 24 hours preceding 8 a. m. Tuesday to a stage of eight feet at the river bridge.

James I. Smith, Jr., of the Emerald Canning Co., said his firm would begin a check Tuesday to determine how many farmers would replant corn in the lowlands. Some farmers, it is understood, do not plan to replant as they believe it is too late in the season. The canning company has obtained seed for replanting.

The highest temperature Monday was 84 degrees and the lowest during the night, 65 degrees.

NATE TO VOTE IN COURT BILL AS COMPROMISE

Leaders Believe Changes
Can Be Passed Before
Adjournment

HATCH, MCGILL ACTIVE

House Proves More Critical
Than Upper Branch

WASHINGTON, June 29—(UP)—Abandonment of President Roosevelt's supreme court expansion bill and speedy shift to a compromise developed today as the first major strategy of New Deal senate Democrats.

Debate is scheduled tentatively for next week. Senate leaders' decision finally to meet the issue raised by Mr. Roosevelt's Feb. 5 judiciary reorganization message found his supporters more confident now than recently that some kind of expansion bill can be passed.

Foremost in compromise discussion was a plan embracing ideas advanced by Sen. Carl Hatch, D., N. M., and Sen. George McGill, D., Kan. Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas is expected to outline the administration compromise offer when he moves to begin senate debate.

May Produce Substitute

The combination of Hatch-McGill ideas on court reorganization would produce a substitute for the Roosevelt bill. It would provide appointment of new justices to increase membership of the court for every justice remaining on the bench beyond the age of 75 years. But these new justices could not be added more rapidly than one in each year. The maximum court membership would be fifteen and the minimum nine, the present authorized strength of the tribunal.

Some opponents of court reorganization claim sufficient votes to defeat the bill as originally sponsored by Mr. Roosevelt. But others suspect that a compromise, either such as the foregoing or outright expansion of the court to eleven members, would pass the senate.

House sentiment is somewhat of a Washington mystery. The senate took the initiative in considering the court bill because house leaders after four years had become resentful of suggestions that representatives were more inclined than senators to "rubber stamp" White House legislation.

In the first New Deal years the house occasionally swallowed Roosevelt bills at a gulp only to see the senate later change them and get away with it. It was decided this time that the senate would act first, on the assumption that the house would pass any court bill which found senate favor.

House More Critical

During this session of congress, however, the house has been more critical of White House bills than in previous years. Largely for that reason there now circulates in Washington a variety of reports that even though the senate passes a compromise bill the administration may have difficulty getting it through the house. The house certainly will be the last stand of anti-expansionists if a bill is rammed through the senate.

Joe Robinson-Biggest Figure in Arkansas

A Home-Town Sketch of the Man Who May Sit on the Supreme Bench—A Conservative Who Has Led the Fight of the New Deal in the Senate

By Central Press

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 29—Joe Robinson (Senator Joseph T. to you) is, of course, the biggest figure in Arkansas. That the United States senate desires the majority leader to be named to the supreme court bench to succeed retiring Justice Willis Van Devanter is understandable to the folk back home. Joe is a likable chap—and ruggedly honest.

And, in spite of being majority leader in this New Deal era, he is a downright conservative. Thus the conservatives in the senate are trying to make it impossible for President Roosevelt to do otherwise than to nominate him. The president is supposed to have promised Joe 'way back that he would be named to the high bench at the first vacancy in return for Joe's strenuous fight for New Deal measures.

Easy Winner

What with sharecroppers and New Deal tendencies, Arkansas is not so conservative as it once was, although on paper it was for many years. Opponents tried to link him up with utilities and big business, but Joe Robinson could point out that he lives from hand-to-mouth off his senatorial pay, and that does not sound very big-business-like. His best friend in Arkansas is multi-millionaire Harvey C. Couch, utility magnate. But Joe Robinson did not hesitate, even in the heat of a political campaign, to go over to Couch's estate near Hot Springs and fish with him in nearby streams.

Until a few years ago, Robinson was a member of the most influential law firm in Arkansas—counsel for the Couch utilities and other big business. That firm now is known as House, Moses and Holmes.

And it is a coincidence that through Senator Robinson's influence Hamilton Moses, of that firm, is slated to become the new federal district judge of eastern Arkansas, to take place of the late John E. Martineau, a liberal. Thus, though President Roosevelt is seeking to put only liberals on federal benches, he may decide otherwise in two instances because of Joe Robinson's aid to him.

He Is 65

Robinson was born on Aug. 26, 1872, on a farm near Lonoke, 20 miles from Little Rock. He thus will be 65 this summer. He has been in politics all his adult life. The money he made in law he spent in politics.

Robinson went to the Arkansas legislature in 1895, to congress in 1900, resigned on Jan. 14, 1913, to become governor, was elected as senator on Jan. 28 of the same year—and resigned the governorship to return to Washington on March 10.

The homestead at Lonoke has been sold, and the senator lives, when in Little Rock, in a leased two-story frame dwelling.

His spare time is passed in reading—when not fishing with Harvey Couch.

It is queer that Joe Robinson, after going to the senate, has had to support Democratic leaders with whose ideas he has not been in entire sympathy.

It will be recalled that in 1928 he was nominated as vice presidential candidate to try to win the southern states for Alfred E. Smith, the head of the ticket. Robinson valiantly did his best.

Supports New Deal

Then, through seniority, he became leader of the Democratic majority in the senate just as the Roosevelt New Deal made its appearance—and Robinson has been valiant as to that, too.

Perhaps he was more closely welded to President Roosevelt because the greatest tormentor the senate ever has known attacked Robinson as bitterly as he attacked the president. The late Huey P. Long enraged Robinson with every word he uttered.

Robinson has had two critical periods in his senatorial life, so far as the folk back home are concerned—one, when he returned home from a London disarmament conference wearing spats. (He had been flattered out of being too much of an opponent in the senate by this Hoover appointment).

Then, secondly, his second crisis came when the sharecroppers of Arkansas, "stirred up by outside agitators", proclaimed they were little more than peons and demanded that the New Deal right their wrongs.

Early Life Sidelight

Of the senator's early life, we are given an interesting sidelight in this interview of 1928, given by the late Thomas C. Trimble of Lonoke:

"I remember distinctly the occasion of my first acquaintance with Joe. I was returning from several days' campaigning for the office of attorney general. As I passed the house of Dr. James Robinson, pioneer physician who came from New York and whose homestead was seven miles from Lonoke, I was hailed by the general doctor, who pressed me to spend the night with him. As darkness was approaching, I agreed. While we were talking at the front gate a little barefoot boy with a hat across his shoulder, his trousers hung by one suspender and one trouser leg rolled up above the knee, came walking up.

"His father introduced him simply as 'Joe, one of my boys.' The boy accompanied me and my horse to the barn and we have quite a bit of conversation. He surprised me with his precocity about matters at large.

"Socialist" Routed

"Several years later when Robinson was 16, there was a threatened rupture in the Democratic party in Lonoke county. A neighbor of the Robinsons was a sower of seeds of discontent and a busy propagandist. He made quiet arrangements for a Socialist leader imported from another state to make a speech in the community one night. I was county Democratic chairman at the time. Late that afternoon I received a telegram from the capital advising me of the impending event. I reached the place late. Mr. (I don't recall his name) had made his speech.

"But there, before a jammed building, was young Robinson in his first political debate and I never heard such a lambasting as he gave his opponent. His hearers were thrilled. There was nothing I could add to the situation, as it was well in hand, so I kept silent. The imported speaker slipped quietly away and the crowd unanimously acclaimed Robinson."

In later years, however, his oratory has seemed tedious and pompous. His speech-making was not much of a factor in the Roosevelt campaigns.

JUDGE ADVISES 'THE BOOK' FOR TIPSY DRIVERS

DENVER (UP)—Strict penalties are recommended by Municipal Judge Philip B. Gilliam as the surest method of curbing drunken driving.

"Throw the book" at offenders is Judge Gilliam's policy, and he points to his court record for March this year as evidence of its effectiveness.

During March, only 24 persons were charged with drunken driving in Judge Gilliam's court. This compares with 49 such cases in March 1936.

The only way to discourage crimes of carelessness, negligence and indifference, Judge Gilliam believes, is to make the penalties so severe that the potential violator will be conscious of the possible consequences of his act.

"I see no reason why drunken drivers should be given sympathy in the courts," he said. "The circumstances of their offense cannot be nearly so unfortunate as the victims of their drunkenness."

"Public opinion, of course, must be the ultimate solution of the problem, but the court can play a part in molding public opinion, and the best way to do that is to 'throw the book' at the offenders."

"That theory is applicable not only to drunken driving, but to almost all types of crime."

"My goal and ideal is to work myself out of a job by inflicting penalties so severe that persons who come into my court once will never come in again, and I won't have any business left."

Vestpocket Battleships Not

Nazi Admiral

NAVAL ATTACHE SPEAKS

Agreement Permits Larger
Men-of-War

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 29 — (UP)—Germany soon will abandon its famous "vestpocket battleships," according to a high naval officer.

Instead of the 10,000-ton craft, which many experts once thought would revolutionize naval construction the world over, the Reich, in the near future will re-enter the world naval armament race by the construction of full-sized battleships.

Rear Admiral Robert Wittoeff-Emden, naval attache to the German embassy in Washington, made that statement while inspecting the U. S. Navy bases at San Diego.

Wittoeff-Emden believes the practice of building the smaller-sized men-o'-war soon will be forgotten. He explained that Germany undertook the construction of such ships only because it was forced to such action by the Treaty of Versailles.

Forced by Necessity

"The Versailles Treaty placed a limit on the size of German warships and we found it necessary to build greater strength and speed into our 10,000-ton cruisers, which have been termed vestpocket battleships," Wittoeff-Emden said.

It was the Deutschland, one of the Reich's "vestpocket" fighters which was bombed by Spanish Loyalist planes while on patrol a few weeks ago, resulting in the shelling of Almeria by the German ships as an act of reprisal.

Continuing his discussion of the "vestpocket" type battleships, Wittoeff-Emden explained the ships do not provide enough "elbow room" for absolutely satisfactory operation, despite the stories of their great efficiency, and concentrated power.

Cites British Agreement

"Since our naval agreement with Great Britain last year we are allowed to construct ships with more elbow room, so we are going in for the full-sized battleships again," the admiral said.

Wittoeff-Emden refused to discuss the size of the details of the full-sized battleships he said his nation would construct.

It is believed, in naval circles here, however, the Reich soon will construct battleships of the 35,000-ton class such as are to be built by the United States.

The German naval expert also refused to comment on the U. S. governments efforts to limit the size of guns on the capital ships of the world powers to 14 inches.

CUSSINS & FEARN GIVES NEW CARS TO WORTHY MEN

W. C. Carter, of 254 N. Union street, Delaware, and the Rev. Fenton O. Fish, 754 Bedford avenue, Columbus, won new Ford V-8 automobiles given away last week by the Cussins & Fearn Co. in its slogan contest.

"You could have knocked me over with a straw" remarked Mr. Carter afterwards. "I was so surprised!" I have wanted a car for many years but have been unable to purchase one. Now I will be able to get out and see a little of the world again. I tried hard to write a nice slogan but never felt that I had much of a chance to win. I have bought at Cussins and Fearn for over 30 years. I made this small purchase of necessities just to enter the contest, hoping that I might win!"

Mr. Carter is a World War veteran and now disabled.

Mr. Fish is minister of the Mayflower Congregational church, 850 Studer avenue, Columbus. Mr. Fish said "The depression is over as far as I am concerned. I have not been so fortunate as to own and enjoy a car since 1929 and am indeed happy to receive this Ford V-8. It will enable me to work out among the people in my congregation much more than at present. I tried to make my slogan simple and easy to read, but never expected to receive the car. You can imagine my surprise and pleasure."

Officials of Cussins and Fearn expressed their pleasure in being able to present a car to two such worthy persons. Both slogans were of high advertising value and expressed considerable thought and understanding of the value of "C. & F. Penny Club Plan" on which the contest was staged.

Roosevelt's Son, Ethel Du Pont are Instructed

Young Couple, to Wed Wednesday, Prepare for Ceremony

WILMINGTON, Del., June 29.—(UP)—Two curly-haired, impetuous youngsters composed themselves today and listened solemnly while the Rev. Frederick Ashton, rector of little Christ Church in Christiana Hundred, talked to them about the spiritual obligations they will undertake tomorrow.

They were Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr., 23, son of the President, and Ethel Du Pont, 21-year-old daughter of the Eugene Du Ponts, whose marriage will link the nation's first family and its No. 1 industrial clan.

The minister's talk preceded rehearsal of the wedding ceremony by the bridal party and a full schedule of social events, among them a pre-nuptial celebration of young Roosevelt's farewell to bachelorhood which will be given by his fellow members of Harvard's Fly Club tonight at the Du Pont estate, Owls Nest.

Neither of the principals will participate in the rehearsal by the wedding party. In deference to tradition and superstition, Miss Du Pont will not walk down the white satin-covered aisle of Christ church, which her ancestors founded, until the strains of the professional from Lohengrin give her the "cue" tomorrow.

She will, however, watch the rehearsal in order to be ready for her part in the "white-and-green" ceremony.

The couple acquired the wedding license yesterday at Owls Nest, thereby disappointing a large crowd which had gathered at the office of Frank E. Haley, old-line Republican justice of the peace who for 40 years has supplied licenses to the Du Ponts.

Haley drove the eight miles to the estate, delivered the license and received $3. He keeps 50 cents, the rest going to the city. Preparations for the ceremony were virtually complete, except for the last-minute arrangement of flowers. Tomorrow 5,000 white peonies and 2,500 white lilies, set off by California woodwardia fern, will be placed in banks at the 14 windows along the side walls of the altar and at the end of alternate pews. Clusters of lilies will flank the chancel.

1,200 for Reception

The green-and-white pavilion at Owls Nest where 1,200 reception guests will be entertained was being decorated today. These guests will not enter the home itself, where a table for 40, including members of the two families, will be laid. The Pyles, Mrs. Du Pont's family, and the Delanos, the president's mother's family, will also be represented at the closed gathering.

Only 340 persons, whose names will not be given out, will witness the ceremony itself.

Mrs. Thomas Hostess
Mrs. Andrew U. Thomas was hostess to the members of her contract bridge club Monday evening at her home in N. Court street. In addition to her sister Mrs. Carl Goeller, of Wichita, Kan., Mrs. Neil Barton, Mrs. Ben Gordon, Mrs. Nathan Groban and Mrs. Franklin Kibler were included among the players.

Many lovely garden flowers were used through the rooms of the home.

When scores were tallied, club trophies were presented Miss Ethel Kirocher, Miss Eleanor Ryan and Mrs. Mack Mader. Guest prizes were awarded Mrs. Barton and Mrs. Goeller. Mrs. Thomas served a salad course after the game.

Mrs. John Bragg will entertain the club in two weeks on Tuesday.

Bridge Club Meets
Mrs. Floyd Hook entertained the members of her contract bridge club, Monday evening at her home in Walnut township. Mrs. Edith Anderson Jones, of Pittsburgh, Pa., her house guest, was included in the three tables of players. When scores were tallied, prizes were given Mrs. J. Wray Henry, Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. T. R. Burke.

Mrs. W. H. Nelson will entertain the club members at their next meeting.

1932 Class Reunion

Miss Jane Mader, co-chairman of the committee on arrangements for the first annual reunion of the Class of 1932 of Circleville high school, reports that reservations are coming in from various sections of the country.

The event is to be held July 3 at the Gold Cliff Chateau, four miles south of Circleville.

Already reservations have been received from class members living in New York, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Dudley Mills is serving with Miss Mader on the committee on arrangements.

A dinner will be held at 7 p. m. at the chateau with Pat J. Kirwin, president of the class, presiding. E. I. Gephart, now of Astabula, who was principal of Circleville high school during the four years the Class of 1932 was enrolled in high school will attend the reunion. He will speak.

Local members of the class who have not made reservations may do so by calling Miss Mader or sending them by mail to her home in E. Main street.

Rodgers Family Reunion

The descendants of Capt. William Rodgers, officer of the Continental army during the Revolutionary War, their friends and relatives met for the 15th annual reunion Sunday at the North Fork Presbyterian church at Slate Mills. A picnic dinner was served at noon.

During the business meeting it was decided to affiliate the Rodgers Family association with the family association of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Miss Netta Henry, of Mt. Sterling, historian, was appointed to correspond with the D. A. R. to arrange the registration.

Among those who registered at the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clifton and family, and Miss Lucille Hinton, of New Holland; Miss Netta Henry, Miss Amy Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baker.

Honor as Best-Dressed Woman Voted to Wally

PARIS, June 29.—(UP)—The Duchess of Windsor today was named the world's best dressed woman for 1937.

The Baltimore celebrity, who was married June 3 to England's abdicated King Edward, headed a list of 10 internationally known social figures whose infallible taste in clothes gave them a lead over hundreds of prominent applicants in a fashion poll held for the United Press by leading Paris stylists.

The 10 best dressed women of all nationalities were listed as follows:

1. Duchess of Windsor.
2. Princess Karam of Kapurthala.
3. Duchess of Kent.
4. Mrs. Harrison Williams.
5. Senora Martinez Hoz.
6. Begum Aga Khan.
7. Baroness Von Krieger.
8. Mrs. Gilbert Miller.
9. Princess Jean Paniotowsky.
10. Baroness Eugene De Rothschild.

Mrs. Harrison Williams, prominent New York hostess who headed last year's list as well as those for 1933 and 1934, was fourth this time—and several titled women—notably the Duchess of Leeds, Princess Charles Murat, the honorable Daisy Fellows—were eliminated entirely.

Many Thousands Spent

It was estimated that these 10 women spent a total of $300,000 to $500,000 in the last year, while each of the 10 spent anywhere from $20,000 to $100,000. This sum includes every article of wearing apparel including furs, underwear, accessories, small jewelry purchases as well as the large expense of beauty treatments, hairdressing and message.

The selection of the Duchess of Windsor as the world's best dressed woman was no surprise, for in the two months prior to her marriage she bought nearly 100 different costumes from four of the leading Paris couturiers and purchased 40 hats. Her trousseau of 58 ensembles came from Mainbocher.

Knowing that blue is her most becoming color, the Duchess of Windsor bases her entire wardrobe on various shades of blue.

The greater part of her underwear is blue and her favorite jewel is the sapphire. She has a slight figure and therefore avoids flamboyant or eccentric clothes which would appear ridiculous on a woman of her small stature. Her blue eyes are her best feature and she dresses to make the most of them.

Second in the list is the little Princess Karam of Kapurthala. Dark-haired, small and slender with large black eyes, she is one of the few high caste Indian princesses to dress in European clothes. Until two years ago she wore the Indian saris, but now discards them when she is in European society. She is usually dressed in a vivid shade of blue but wears navy, black, cerise and white also. Her dressmaker is Mainbocher.

SOME END-PLAYS MARKED

WHEN THE declarer has among his two holdings some card which he knows can be won by only a particular one of the two defenders, it is well to consider using it as a means of throwing that player into the lead in the late play. This applies with special force if the declarer possesses a tenace in some other suit into which the luckless defender may be obliged to lead.

After South's opening bid of 2-Diamonds on this deal, West put in a bid of 2-Spades, North passed, East bid 3-Spades and South 5-Diamonds.

West led the spade K and switched to the heart J when he saw the spade Q in the dummy. The heart trick was won in the South and the adverse trumps drawn, the last one in dummy to provide for a club finesse. This lost to West's club K and the declarer had no means of avoiding another club loser, so that he was set.

A better plan would have been, after winning the heart trick, to win the first trump in dummy with ruff & spade. After one more lead of trumps, the other high hearts should have been cashed. A trump lead to dummy would now have enabled declarer to lead the spade Q, on which he should have discarded the club 4. South knew that West would have to win the trick and that, regardless of what card West chose to lead, the contract was now assured.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS AND SITES IN COUNTY VALUED AT NEARLY MILLION

ANNUAL REPORT OF OPERATIONS
SENT TO STATE

High Teachers Get Average
Pay of $1,183, Grades

3,915 PUPILS ENROLLED

1,049 New Books Added
During Last Year

Despite depreciation and exclusive of the new Darby township school addition, Pickaway county's 26 schools increased their property valuation approximately $3,000 during the last year.

This is revealed in a statistical report for the year ending June 30, completed Monday by George McDowell, superintendent of county schools.

The valuation of school buildings and sites in the county is listed at $986,500 this year as compared to $983,725 last year. These figures are exclusive of the Darby township building, not yet completed, to cost $54,750. Many of the buildings have been repainted during the last year and new heating systems installed.

Total equipment in the buildings this year is estimated at $104,000, as compared to $104,477 last year.

Salaries Averaged
During the year the average salary of elementary teachers was $900, and high school teachers $1,183. Due to the adjustment system of salaries under the foundation program it was difficult to accurately compare the salaries with last year.

The report shows 275 pupils finished the eighth grade this year, 117 boys and 158 girls. One hundred and ninety-two were graduated from high schools, 91 boys and 101 girls.

The total net enrollment of pupils in the county system is 3,915, including 2,006 boys and 1,909 girls. There were 2,925 pupils in elementary schools, 1,519 boys and 1,406 girls. The high school enrollment was 487 boys and 503 girls making a total of 990. Average daily attendance was 3,711. Aggregate days of attendance for the school year amounted to 666,598. Absences amounted to 35,815 days.

Buses Travel Far
During the year 3,150 pupils were transported in buses, driven by 94 drivers. Payments on bus contracts were $63,646.76. The buses averaged 2,098 loaded miles per day.

The report shows there are 169 teachers in the county system, 56 men and 113 women.
A total of 1,049 new books costing $13,761.10 was added to school libraries during the year. School libraries now contain 16,579 books. This report is submitted to the state director of education.

named Othel Leroy Strong, 22, of Pasadena, Calif., as a suspect. He is on probation for a morals offense and was identified from a photograph by several persons in the neighborhood as the man who was seen loitering in the playground Saturday when the girls disappeared. The loiterer was known only as "Eddie."

Early today, however, the district attorney office in Los Angeles received a telegram from the sheriff at Olympia, Wash., saying that Strong had been in Olympia for the last two weeks. This message eliminated Strong from the case and turned the hunt to a man named "Eddie" who resembled Strong's picture.

Man Seen at Playground

One 12-year-old girl told police she saw "Eddie" back in the playground Sunday with his blue dungarees torn and his face scratched. As a crime of depravity, the murders of Melba Everett, 9; her sister, Madeline, 7; and Jeanette Stephens, 8, were comparable today to those of the two little Martin sisters in 1924 or of Marion Parker in 1927.

The three bodies were found in a ravine late Monday by four Boy Scouts, members of a searching party of 1,000 men and boys, including federal agents, sheriffs, police and civilians, among whom were 200 Legionnaires.

An airplane pilot, aiding the search, first noticed three splashes of color on the ground that he thought might be the girls' clothes. He relayed the information to the ground and the boys, led by Richard Vogt, 17, made the discovery. The boys were so shocked that they took only a glance and returned for elder members of the posse.

Shoes Arranged in Order

The remains of a campfire lay in the ravine. Beside it, the three girls' shoes were orderly arranged in a row. Nearest the ashes was the body of Jeanette Stephens. Her clothing was torn to shreds, the underclothing having been ripped off, wadded up and tossed aside. One glance at her features showed she had died of strangulation and other evidence made it obvious that she had been assaulted criminally.

Twenty-five yards beyond lay the body of Madeline. Her clothing was in better array. Beyond, about 25 yards, lay Madeline's sister, Melba. Her clothes had been torn away.

All three girls' faces were covered by their arms. They were garroted with two-foot lengths of rope, which were left looped about the necks.

The bodies were smeared with blood.

A policeman who inspected the scene said: "The man must have enticed them here. It would have been impossible for anyone to force three children over almost two miles of rough ground into the deep, narrow ravine."

Bruises on the bodies showed that the girls had struggled for their lives.

All Three Strangled

Autopsy Surgeon A. F. Wagner said all three had been strangled after they were assaulted. They had been dead probably since Saturday night, doctors said. Eugene Williams, chief investigator of the Los Angeles district attorney's office, reconstructed the scene as follows:

The fiend led the girls into the ravine, which was far out of earshot of residences, and built the bonfire. One by one he took them away. First to go was Melba, the 9-year-old child. Madeline and Jeanette followed in that order. The killer shut off their screams with the ropes. When he had finished the assaults and strangulations, he tossed the bodies aside. Madeline's body had been sprinkled with dry weeds, as if and one half quarts, police said, part of which they stored in C. I. O. headquarters adjoining a frame hotel near the mill entrance.

Great Damage Averted

Only the fact that the alleged terrorists were poor chemists and did not know how to mix properly the explosives prevented far greater damage than occurred in the three blasts, according to police, who said they found one quart of the nitro glycerin in Bundas' home and another in Borawicz's home.

Police said the three confessed that on Wednesday night they set out with Charles Byers and Joe Orowitz in an automobile to blow up a railroad bridge connecting the Republic blast furnaces with the open hearth furnaces, a vital link in the plant operations. Warrants also have been issued for Byers and Orowitz.

En route, the men became frightened, police said, because national guardsmen were following them in another automobile. They threw away part of the nitro glycerin. Byers was wounded and his automobile, in which they were riding, was damaged by the explosion which occurred on a bridge in view of militiamen.

The guardsmen fired on the fleeing automobile, which later was found abandoned. Their own car narrowly escaped damage.

Police quoted the men as saying they did not throw the explosives at the pursuing guardsmen, but merely were trying to get rid of it.

Their confession was described as disclosing plans to bomb various important points around the Republic mills. The power line bombing near Niles, for instance, would have cut off six high tension lines leading from the Ohio Public Service producing plant to the Niles Republic plant if the home-made explosives had worked as intended. The blast snapped off the power line pole but the lines proved strong enough to hold up the pole and prevent a break in the power.

Hall Mainspring

Hall has been the mainspring of the strike at Warren, where he staged a short-lived "labor holiday" last week by calling a general industrial strike in protest against militia protection for non-strikers returning to the mills.

unbroken, state departments and institutions faced the possibility today of being forced to operate for at least two weeks in July without legally appropriated funds.

Both houses met briefly last night, but adjourned without moving nearer a solution in the budget battle due to the failure of the joint conference committee representing the insurgent senate and the administration-controlled house to reach an agreement.

Partial Bill Filed

To meet the emergency that will arise if funds for state operation for the next 18 months are not provided soon, Sen. Emerson Campbell, D., Belmont, introduced a bill providing a partial appropriation of $31,447,241 from July 1 to Sept. 30.

The $20,222,597 partial bill under which the state is now operating expires tomorrow.

The house adjourned subject to call, possibly Thursday. The senate will meet next Wednesday or Thursday, when Lieut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder, insurgent leader, hopes the conference committee will reach an agreement or make way for a new committee.

TO MANAGE CONVENTION

COLUMBUS, June 29—(UP)—Floyd Hartpence of Westerville, today was appointed business manager of the American Legion Convention, Inc., to co-ordinate the work of all committees planning for the Legion's 19th annual Ohio department convention here Aug. 15-17.
